A very good turn out for this interesting concept I seem to have qualified as the arbiter I mislead the players by saying the groups were separated by one acceleration point but this should have been 2 Due to the absence of a player in group 1 and in group 2 there is already been intermingling at the top of group 2 Fludey being the victim. It was good to see the return of Isaac and Joshua Ng [and Ben of course]

Isaac had a very good result on board 1 giving away 350 ratings points and holding FM Bill Jordan to a draw. Good result also for Bobby Yu on board 16. I think this is Bobby's first outing on Friday night.

2012 Australian Junior Chess Championships

These championships are Australia's most important junior chess competitions and they are open to any junior that plays chess. They include long play championships, lightning and problem solving competitions. There are separate Open and Girl's championships for various age groups. Box Hill 2 v Noble Park 2 result 2—2 played September 18

David Flude	0.5:0.5	Zachary Loh
Gus D'Onofrio	1:0	Kai Tan
Geoff Cook	0.5:0.5	Elvis Espejo

Canterbury Juniors v Melbourne CC 1 result 1—3 played October 16

Bobby Cheng	1-0	Mirko Rujevic
Laurence Matheson	0-1	James Morris
Michael Chan	0-1	Jesse Jager
Ari Dale	0-1	Justin Penrose

It was not a great result for either the Box Hill/Darkhorse or the Canterbury Juniors combinations. Perhaps they should move away from Sundays. Too many other things to do, or exams coming up, or outplayed
 In division 2 Box Hill 2 continues to do well and is at this point in time is 2 points clear of their nearest rivals Noble Park and Ballarat. There are however quite a few unreported results or unplayed games. In fact the whole competition is a mess. Division 1 has so many results missing that it is impossible to get a take on what is going on. I believe club president Peter Tsai has been requested to take over the organisation and reporting. That will smarten them up. Whatever happened to division 3? Is there anybody out there.

I think the following game represents a very good example how to play if you are an adult playing a promising junior. A very good positional game for Geoff, it is a pity he did not finish it.

Transfer tournament report

Allen Yu reports

Only 4 teams competed today, but despite this it was a really fun day. It was a triple round robin where each team played 4 games against the opponent every match, to ensure everyone played against everyone. Time control was 3 0 and bumped down to 2 0 in the last round. Final standings (out of 36):

1st- Allen Yu and Michael Chan 27
2nd- Bobby Cheng and Cedric Antolis 22.5
3rd- Alec Yu and Daniel Tan 21.5
4th- Ari Dale and Finley Dale 1
The tournament was held on Saturday October 8 from 2.30 to 5.30 [!] I think there are more tournaments planned Keep your eye on this space
